

CONGRESS CHIDED FOR FUND CUTTING

FAR-REACHING LAWS SIGNED
BY GOVERNORHITTLE BILL MAY
SAVE TAXPAYERS
$200,000,000

Lansing, July 1 (AP)—Two controversial and far-reaching measures—the omnibus labor bill and the Hittle community property bill—were signed into law by Governor Sigler today.

The omnibus bill, bitterly attacked by labor groups, requires compulsory arbitration of disputes involving public utilities and both private and municipal hospitals as well as other restrictive measures.

The Hittle community property bill, backers claim, will save Michigan taxpayers from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 in federal income taxes.

Curb On Strikes

The labor bill requires filing of 10-day strike notice with the labor mediation board. A 30-day notice is required in public utility disputes. Mediation must be attempted before a strike is allowed and strikes may be made legal only by a majority vote of members of a bargaining unit.

The measure outlaws jurisdictional disputes and authorizes the labor mediation board to hold an election to determine the bargaining agent at the request of either labor or management.

Sigler conceded there may be defects in the measure but termed it a step in the right direction because "it furnishes a legal method of settling disputes without denying the right to strike and the established rights of labor except in the case of public utilities."

"Both labor and industry have from time to time recognized the unfairness of jurisdictional disputes," said the governor. "In some respects Michigan is pioneering in this legislation."

The Hittle bill permits husband and wife to share their income as a device to reduce their federal income tax total. Income sharing is mandatory under the bill, H. H. Warner, legal advisor to the governor said, and all persons must divide their incomes with their spouses for income tax computation unless they act to exempt themselves under the law.

Higher Incomes Benefit

Warner said a brief written contract should be drawn up among couples who do not wish to share their income under the law.

Effective today, the bill will permit savings only for the last half of the current income tax period. Those who wish to benefit under the law must make out new estimated income taxes for the year. In most cases, this may be done as late as Jan. 15, 1948.

The governor recommended that employers make no change in income tax deductions taken from wages until they hear from the federal government.

Senator Harry F. Hittle, East Lansing Republican and sponsor of the bill, declared that it does not make any important change in property rights except for income tax purposes. The husband remains the legal manager of the joint income under the measure.

Hittle said the saving would be only a minor one to families in the $2,000 and $3,000 a year income bracket but would average around $40 for those in the $4,000 a year bracket and would mount steadily with higher incomes.

Opponents of the measure have charged the bill was unworkable and would need expensive judicial interpretation.

"Any new law needs judicial interpretation," said Sigler in signing the bill. "But it is expected in the long run this law will be of benefit to the people of Michigan and I believe it will save the taxpayers many millions of dollars."

Britain Negotiates
For Big Quantities
Of Food In Europe

BY ED CREAGH

London, July 1 (AP)—The British government is negotiating with Hungary and Yugoslavia, as well as with Russia, for large quantities of food, John Strachey, food minister, disclosed today.

Strachey said the government hoped to make agreements that would "fit in well" with the aid-Europe program of U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

He told the House of Commons that a British mission already had obtained "agreement in principle" with the Hungarian cabinet on a three-year contract covering export to Britain of bacon, eggs, poultry, lard, sunflower oil and other foodstuffs.

He added that similar negotiations were going on with Yugoslavia and said an agreement is "quite possible" within the next few weeks.

At conclusion of his speech the House defeated, 278 to 113, an opposition motion against the food ministry's budget estimate of 330,000,000 pounds ($1,320,000,000).

Strachey said $13,000,000 pounds ($1,252,000,000) of the total would go for consumer food subsidies.

Trade Mission In Moscow

The food minister said he also hoped to start negotiations soon for more food from Ireland, and that he was investigating the possibility of imports from Indonesia.

"We hope to obtain feeding stuffs soon from the United States, in addition to the 750,000 tons already on order from the Argentine," he continued. He did not elaborate.

Strachey made his statement in reply to Conservatives who accused him of lack of foresight and urged that government bulk buying be abandoned. In announcing the negotiations with Hungary and Yugoslavia, he also touched on the British trade mission now in Moscow.

"If negotiations and moderation are shown by both sides," he said, "something of great value to the economy of both countries might emerge."

Strachey linked the trade negotiations directly with the Marshall plan, declaring "it is the essence of the scheme put forward on the initiative of Mr. Marshall that Europe should help itself as a prelude to any assistance."

ACTION SOUGHT
IN COAL TIIEUPTaft and Hartley Call
On Truman To Invoke
New Labor Law

Washington, July 1 (AP)—The authors of the Taft-Hartley labor law called on President Truman tonight to invoke the new law to cope with any paralyzing coal strike.

Meantime, there were reports of imminent developments in contract negotiations between John L. Lewis and some segments of the soft coal industry. However, Charles O'Neill, a spokesman for the operators negotiating committee, said no announcement would be made tonight.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said now is the time to face the coal problem. He said that if a crippling strike occurs, Mr. Truman should appoint a board of inquiry under the new act.

Rep. Hartley (R-NJ), the other sponsor of the act, went further. He said the President should immediately name the inquiry board.

At the same time, there were reports that something may "break" soon as a result of negotiations reported under way between John L. Lewis and some leading coal mine representatives.

Persons in touch with the situation said Harry Moses, head of the coal interests of U. S. Steel corporation, and George M. Humphrey, board chairman of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company, were in conference with Lewis.

There were reports that an agreement was sought on the basis of granting Lewis's demand for a 35-cent hourly wage increase, bringing the miners' pay to $13.05 for an eight-hour portland day, but rejecting his demand that the levy for the United Mine Workers welfare fund be increased from 5 cents a ton to 10.

BATH COSTS $6,000

San Jose, Calif., July 1 (AP)—William Herwig took a $6,000 bath, he told police today.

"I wear the key to my safe on a cord around my neck," Herwig explained, "but I took it off and laid it on a table while I bathed."

While he washed the $6,000 vanished from the safe, he said.

CIGARETTES UP
ANOTHER CENT?Attorney General Rules
Sales Tax Applies
To New Prices

Lansing, July 1 (AP)—An opinion of Attorney General Eugene F. Black was interpreted today as boosting the price of cigarettes another penny per package beyond the new three-cent tax which went into effect this morning.

Black ruled that the sales tax must be applied on top of the new three-cent-a-package cigarette tax.

Since the latter levy boosts the price of a package of cigarettes into the 19-cent or higher class, merchants are warranted in charging a one-cent sales tax in addition to the three-cent tax, so per package, the state revenue department said. Previously the sales tax on cigarettes usually has been absorbed by the retailer because the price of 16 and 17 cents per package fell below the point the sales tax was normally applied.

Black's opinion said "the sales tax is a tax, not upon sales, but upon the privilege of making the retail sales of tangible personal property * * * although the tax is measured by the gross proceeds of such sales * * *."

He held that the new cigarette tax is not a tax on the retail sale of cigarettes but upon the privilege of engaging in the cigarette trade, except the retail trade. Therefore, Black said, cigarettes reach the retailer with the added tax and it becomes part of the gross proceeds of a retailer's business and liable for sales tax.

Log Jam Is Broken
On Postmasters;
136 Are Confirmed

Washington, July 1 (AP)—The Senate broke a six-months' log jam today on President Truman's nominations by confirming appointments of 136 postmasters. But it promptly ran into a new snag over his choice of James Bruce of Maryland to be ambassador to Argentina.

Senator Langer (R-ND) blocked action on Bruce's appointment and announced later to reporters that he will state his objections in a Senate speech.

Langer declined to elaborate, but Senator Tydings (D-Md) said he thinks the North Dakota protest will be lodged against Bruce's connection with large business interests. In the past Langer often has attacked nominations of men with what he has called "Wall Street connections."

Alert Deputy Locks
Himself In Own Jail,
Fails Lynching Mob

Carrollton, Ga., July 1 (AP)—A belligerent peace officer, who locked himself in his own jail and threw away the keys, rallied police reinforcements against an armed mob for more than four hours last night and saved a negro prisoner from lynching.

Chief Deputy Otis King, acting in absence of vacationing Sheriff B. B. Kilgore, said he barricaded himself inside the Carroll county jail shortly after 9 p. m. when alerted that a mob was coming to get the negro. While an assistant parlayed with leaders of the mob, King said, he telephoned for help. More than a score of city police, sheriff's deputies and state patrolmen were on the scene within an hour, and formed a cordon around the jail.

Four More Levees
Burst On Surging
Mississippi River

St. Louis, July 1 (AP)—The surging Mississippi river, concentrating its flood waters now on Missouri and Illinois lowlands, burst through four more levees today with the added impetus of a 12-inch rise from torrential local rains and forced evacuation of the towns of Dupu and East Carondelet, Ill., by their combined population of 3,100.

Mayor Delmar Valine of Dupu said 90 per cent of the women and children and 50 per cent of the men had left.

The towns are across the river from the old Jefferson Barracks, Mo., army post immediately south of St. Louis.

As the rising waters went over the Prairie Du Pont levee along the Illinois Central railroad tracks and by-passed the Missouri Pacific railroad embankment which stayed off the 1944 flood, Dupu and East Carondelet residents worked swiftly to store their furniture in box cars.

Army engineers said the finish of the four-day fight to bolster the weakened barricade might have been different except for the overnight rain which measured two and one-half inches. Most of it came in a downpour in less than a two-hour period.

Volunteer workers were caught off guard by the sudden swish of river water over the levee flank which washed out a 14-foot hole that widened to 75 feet in minutes. Army engineers passed along word to retreat to higher ground.

"We had it stopped cold until the rain came up," one engineer said as he watched the swirling water cut away the dike which days of back-breaking labor had built up.

Upstream and across the river a few miles from downtown St. Louis the Mississippi washed out the Chouteau-Nameoki-Venice, Ill., levee, causing immediate evacuation orders to all families still in the area. The levee was the secondary line of defense behind the Chouteau Island levee which went out yesterday.

Engineers said they were confident the East Side levee, last barrier holding the river back from the business sections of Venice, Madison and Granite City, Ill., would stand.

Below Dupu the north flank of the Harrisonville levee gave way, flooding 27,800 acres and farther downstream near Chester, Ill., about 100 miles south of St. Louis, the Degonia levee went out.

Through the breach water poured to cut off the communities of Grand Tower and Gorham, Ill., from highway travel.

It was the last of the crucial dikes the engineers had hoped to save. Inundation of 36,200 acres of farmland was at stake. Inhabitants of the levee district were moved out days ago.

As the barriers crumbled or were topped by the flood waters, an army of levee workers estimated by the engineers at more than 4,000, including about 1,000 soldiers, shifted their efforts to other threatened areas. Some of them were equipped with carbide flares for night work.

No Gasoline Pinch
Likely In Michigan

Detroit, July 1 (AP)—A Detroit board of commerce spokesman said today there was no early danger of a shortage of gasoline here or in the rest of Michigan.

The statement came from J. H. Minnich of the board after consultations with representatives of the petroleum industry.

Michigan has a sufficient supply at this time to meet normal needs, Minnich said.

Harry B. Bridgman, field manager for the American Trucking Association, said he found "no evidence" of a gasoline shortage.

FRANCE SAVES
FROM FAILURERUSSIANS PRESSED FOR ANSWER ON FINAL OFFER

BY JOSEPH E. DYNAN

Paris, July 1 (AP)—France gave the Three-power foreign ministers' conference a 24-hour reprieve late today by offering a last-minute compromise proposal on European recovery which averted for the moment, at least, a collapse of the conversations.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said the new offer represented France's final position in the three-power efforts to implement the aid-Europe plan of U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Both Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin pressed for a prompt answer from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—French quarters reported—and put the French proposals up to Molotov on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

(A Moscow radio broadcast, heard in London, quoted a Paris dispatch from Tass, Soviet News agency, as saying Bidault's last-minute proposal did not differ "from the first French proposal or from the British plan." Molotov turned down both plans.)

Bidault advanced his proposals as a compromise measure designed to meet Russian objections against "interference" in national internal affairs, and appealed to Molotov for conciliation to salvage the aid-Europe conference.

Outlook Not Hopeful

British and French sources said Molotov insisted on a full day's recess to permit him to study the French proposals. Bidault at first demanded a decision today, but Molotov said the usual practice was to allow time for study.

The session, accordingly, was adjourned after only one hour and 40 minutes. The ministers agreed to meet Wednesday afternoon, but there was no promise that the deadlock might be broken.

Bevin was said by British and French sources to have insisted that Molotov bring in a definite "yes" or "no" answer tomorrow. Molotov, however, declined to commit himself.

British circles tonight were pessimistic and French sources predicted that tomorrow would be the conference's last session. Only an hour before Bidault spoke, French quarters had predicted a sudden end at today's meeting.

Bidault, opening this afternoon's session, told Molotov that France could not accept Russia's proposal for conciliation limiting the plan to a simple declaration by European nations as to their economic needs.

He said the Soviet proposal did not provide for European self-aid and hence it would never be accepted by the United States.

BOAT CAPSIZES
ON BAY DE NOCGladstone Pair In Water
Over Six Hours After Fast Craft Sinks

Two Gladstone brothers, Jackson Marble and Webster Marble II, spent more than six hours fighting the choppy waters of Little Bay de Noc Tuesday after they were thrown out of a speedboat, until they were rescued about a half mile off the Stonington shore.

The two men, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Marble of Gladstone, were testing a 14-foot plywood boat of their own make, equipped with a 55 horse power motor, in which they planned to make a record trip across Lake Michigan to Frankfort July 5. In mid-bay off Terrace Gardens the boat apparently hit an obstruction, capsized and sank. The occupants were equipped with life jackets, and with the aid of wind and current on the rough bay managed to make progress toward the Stonington shore. The mishap occurred about 9 a. m., it is believed, and it was midafternoon before their calls for help were heard by a Stonington resident. A small skiff was put out, but the water was too rough, and help was summoned with a larger boat.

The two, nearing exhaustion, were pulled out of the water about 3:30 p. m. and taken to their home in Gladstone, where they were reported last night to be in fair condition but suffering from shock and exposure.

Menominee River
Fishermen Drown;
One Of Four Saved

Menominee, Mich., July 1 (AP)—Only one of four occupants survived today when a small boat overturned in the Menominee River, 19 miles north of here, during a fishing party.

Drowned were Harry Hansen, 30, Milwaukee, Richard Reece, 31, Milwaukee, and Art Laudon, 54, of Lake Ludington, Mich.

The survivor, Gerald Hansen, 28, of Milwaukee, brother of Harry, was rescued by a group of Pere fishermen, who were unable to reach the others.

Tot Lost 48 Hours
Found After Shock
Kills Grandfather

Lassen National Forest, Calif., July 1 (AP)—Twelve hours after the shock of her disappearance caused the death of her grandfather, former Congressman John A. Tolan of California, tottling Greta Mary Gale was found alive and unharmed early today.

The two-and-a-half year old Greta, shivering in just panties in the 25-degree mountain cold, was located barely a mile from the Tolan summer cabin on the steep boulder-strewn slope of Mt. Harkness.

Rushed to a hospital near Westwood, she was found to be in good condition, surprisingly clean and unmussed, and apparently little the worse for the sharp night cold and 48 hours without food or water.

It was surmised she may have staged a childish version of hide-and-seek to evade searchers, who had, however, scoured every inch of the area covering three square miles around the cabin.

Huddled Face Down

Veteran trappers and mountain men at Lee's camp expressed amazement the child could have climbed the 35-degree boulder-strewn slope, and survived two nights in the mountain air. Last night the thermometer dropped to 25 degrees.

When found by Francis W. Keeler, 52, veteran state lion hunter of French Gulch, Greta was huddled face down in a small grassy gully on the mountain slope above the Tolan cabin.

Greta, known as "Toni", had gone with Tolan and Mrs. Tolan to Lee's camp in this Plumas county mountain area for a vacation. Her parents had joined them Friday.

When the child wandered away from the cabin about 10 a. m. Sunday, almost before the eyes of her mother, Tolan joined in the search.

In ill health, Tolan was stricken by a heart attack shortly afterward and died in Westwood hospital about 6 p. m. yesterday.

NEW TAX SLASH
BILL FORESEENHouse Favors Plan To Start Reductions
Next Jan. 1

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Speaker Martin said today early House passage of a new $4,000,000,000 tax cut is likely. It would become effective Jan. 1 instead of July 1 as in the measure vetoed by President Truman.

"We have the two-thirds vote to override a veto in the House," Martin told reporters. "Whether another veto could be overridden in the Senate depends on how many Democrats join in support of the bill there."

The vetoed bill has been reintroduced, changed only in the effective date of the cut.

The House sustained Mr. Truman's veto of the July 1 bill by a two-vote margin.

Martin made his statement as the House and Senate Republican high command arranged a meeting for tomorrow to map the legislative program for the remainder of the session, which is expected to adjourn July 26.

Discussing the prospect of quick House action on the tax bill, Martin said:

"The more I think of the idea the more I like it."

Martin said he has heard that 61 votes to override another veto are assured in the Senate, but added: "I haven't been given any names yet of these 61 Senators."

Bandit Is Cleared
In Detroit Court
By Hard-Luck Tale

Detroit, July 1 (AP)—An accused bandit, who substituted a hard luck story for violence, was cleared today of an unarmed robbery charge by Recorder's Judge John J. Maher.

Violet Bolint, 18, a clerk in a cleaners, testified that 32-year-old John McGowan, the defendant, entered the shop May 16 and demanded money.

When she told him the firm's funds were in the custody of the manager, Miss Bolint said McGowan showed her that he had no gun and told her "I'm hungry and tired and sleeping in fields."

The young woman thereupon loaned him $5.

The court directed a verdict of innocent, on ground that no larceny had occurred.

TAX MACHINE IS IMPAIRED,
TRUMAN SAYSTREASURY TO LOSE
400 MILLION, DROP
5,000 EMPLOYEES

BY JOHN B. OWEN

Washington, July 1 (AP)—President Truman today told Congress its fund cutting has damaged federal tax collecting machinery for years to come and will cost the treasury at least $400,000,000 in taxes this fiscal year.

Signing the $12,402,485,671 treasury-postoffice appropriation bill, Mr. Truman issued a statement deploring a $20,000,000 reduction in money requested for the internal revenue bureau.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 employees must be dropped and this cannot be done "without weakening the enforcement activities of the bureau," the president wrote.

Padded Budget Claimed

The bill's total for the year is $33,000,000 less than Mr. Truman asked, but he centered his criticism on what he called the "gross inadequacy" of funds for the tax agency, which was given $188,000,000.

"The administration of the taxing statutes should never be influenced by political considerations," he said. He did not elaborate on this statement.

On learning of the president's criticism, House Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, told reporters that it is "a continuation of Mr. Truman's stubborn resistance to any cuts in his padded budget and to the cutting down of any of the persons on the government payroll."

The bill signed today is one of a dozen required to carry the government through the new fiscal year which started today. The other eleven have not yet passed Congress and efforts to put through an interim emergency measure to finance the departments on a temporary basis ran into trouble.

An emergency bill passed yesterday by the House, authorizing certain definite expenditures, was rejected by the Senate appropriations committee. Chairman Bridges (R-NH) told reporters it would prevent a number of agencies from spending funds until the regular appropriations are available.

Two Bills Differ

The Senate quickly supported the view of its appropriations committee and adopted without dissent today its own emergency financing plan as a substitute for the House plan.

The Senate proposal would permit government agencies to go on spending at the rate of one-twelfth of 1948 budget estimates per month until Congress passes the regular appropriations.

The differences in the two emergency plans will be ironed out by a joint conference committee of the two branches.

One of the delayed appropriation bills moved forward today when the Senate approved $551,813,000 for the state, commerce and justice departments and the federal judiciary for the new fiscal year.

The measure goes to conference with the House, which had voted $12,833,508 less than the senate.

The Senate set up $13,470,000 for the state department's foreign information program, including:

SMOKE CAUSED BY STEAM LEAK

City Plant Employees Await Arrival Of New Stack

A steam leak near Fifth street between Ludington street and First avenue North, which was located by employees of the city steam plant yesterday, was responsible for the smoke from an emergency stack which poured through the business area yesterday morning, it was explained.

The leak has been repaired, and the emergency stack will be used, pending the arrival and installation of a new smoke stack from Green Bay, Acting City Manager A. V. Aronson said.

"The leak caused an overload, which resulted in insufficient pressure to permit the emergency stack to handle the load," he explained.

For two weeks, city employees have been testing and making arrangements for the installation of the new stack, scheduled to arrive Monday evening, when the fires were left to die and the main stack was cut off preparatory to using the emergency stack.

The equipment did not arrive on schedule, however, and when the emergency stack was put into use yesterday morning, the as yet undiscovered leak caused the harrassing clouds of smoke in the business area.

Temporary measures were taken, and when the leak was repaired, the problem was solved for the time being. The fire department was called out at 10:30 a. m. yesterday from Box 12 located at the corner of Ludington and Seventh streets.

But there was no fire. It was

Escanaba Playgrounds Have Active Programs

Playground activity is in full swing at Ludington park, Royce park and at the Webster playground. This month arts and crafts are being given special attention although games of all types are being played every day. A surprising number of youngsters are showing great interest in art work and in making things.

Webster playground has published its first weekly newspaper and a doll and buggy parade will be held this afternoon in the area just north of Webster school.

At Royce park, youngsters are making a miniature circus and a moving merry-go-round has just been completed. Many pictures and drawings have been finished and they will be on display this week.

At Ludington park the interest this week centers on archery and many youngsters and grownups are busy preparing themselves for the archery tournament to be held in conjunction with the Hiawathaland festival. The horseshoe courts have been filled in and resurfaced and "barnyard golf" enthusiasts are invited to come down and practice for the Hiawathaland open tournament which will be held next Sunday afternoon.

All playgrounds have facilities for shuffleboard, tennis, goal-hi basketball, volley ball, and softball in addition to swings and teeter-totters for the little ones. Boys and girls will prepare this week for races to be held at Ludington park on the afternoon of the fourth. The age divisions are 9 and under, 10 to 12, 13 to 14, and 15 and 16. The following races will be run off: 30-yard dash, backwards race, crab race, 3-legged race, sack race, and wheelbarrow race.

NEW SUBWAYS TO BE CLEAN

Pure Air And Less Noise Promised In Coming Subway Trains

New York, (SS.)—Among railway trains of tomorrow list one designed for city subways. A ten-car train now under construction, to be ready for service in a year or so, promises passengers pure air, less noise, good lighting and freedom from much of the present jarring and jerking.

The train is being constructed by Westinghouse Electric Corporation for the New York subway. It is called a "laboratory" train because it will be used not only to carry passengers but to test new types of subway equipment.

There are many special problems in subway transportation. The train noises can not escape from the tunnel and are echoed and re-echoed. Dust can not escape. No air is available for passengers except that scooped up within the tube, dust-laden and germ-laden from the passing of other trains.

In this new train, fresh air will enter through roof grilles on each end of each car and pass through devices in which it is whirled rapidly to rid it of its heavier dust particles by centrifugal force.

Then it passes through what scientists call a precipitron, within which the tiniest particles are given an electric charge by passing through a "fence" of thin tungsten wires. They are pulled from the airstream later as they pass between a series of electrically-charged metal plates.

Both fresh air entering the car, and recirculated air within the coach, will be sterilized by being blown past groups of bactericidal lamps. These lamps emit strong ultraviolet rays which will kill most of the airborne bacteria.

Art Exhibit Makes Lisbon Cops See Red

Lisbon—(To the thief who stole the pictures from Rua Barata Salgueiro on the 13th we request please send the pawn tickets by mail.)

This apparently innocent advertisement inserted in the Diario de Noticias may lead to many arrests—not of "thieves" but of the advertisers, as they meant the minister of interior when they used the word "thief."

The pictures which disappeared from the Second Salon of Plastic Art held in the Society of Fine Arts Building, were painted by Arco, Julio Pomar, Maria Keil do Amaral, Avelino Cunha and others.

These pictures had been strongly criticized by the government organ Diario da Manha as being "Communist propaganda." They showed men behind bars, laborers at work and men chained together.

Diario Manha accused the artists of trying to attack the government and spread Communist propaganda through their pictures, particularly one which showed a harvester holding a sickle but nothing in the picture to harvest.

One evening after the show was closed for a day it was reported that the minister of interior with several policemen went in to look around and decided that the Diario Manha was right.

Several pictures were seized. As nothing appeared about this incident in the press, the public only learned about it after the advertisement appeared and drew its own conclusions as to whom the advertisement referred.

The City's Black Eye

THE cloud of black, filthy smoke and soot that settled over the east end of Ludington street yesterday morning, spreading southward out to the bay, showed how little progress the City of Escanaba has made in solving its own smoke nuisance. The smoke cloud, the worst of many that has poured from the municipal steam plant in the past several years, covered a wide section of the city with a low hanging layer of dense blackness.

Smoke abatement is essential in a community that prides itself upon cleanliness. It is impossible to make any progress towards alleviation of the smoke problem in Escanaba, however, unless the city itself, the worst offender, cleans up its own mess.

The patience of the Escanaba people is wearing thin, particularly those residents in the east end of the city who are literally eating the city's smoke, soot and fly ash day after day.

We do not pretend to know the answer to the smoke nuisance but there are engineers in the country who are experts in this sort of thing. The Bituminous Coal Institute provides such service and undoubtedly there are other firms and organizations that do likewise. The city might well bring in one or more of those experts and get this mess straightened out as rapidly as possible. Some changes have been made in the past in the hope of correcting the evil but the mass of dirt that enveloped the east end of the city yesterday was evidence enough that what has already been done has been insufficient to meet the problem.

The installation of a new stack and another boiler is being planned, but there must obviously be something wrong in the method of firing at the steam plant or in the quality of coal being burned. The installation of a new stack under such conditions would only serve to spread the smoke and soot over a greater area. What is really needed is an elimination of the smoke, not merely diffusion over more area within the city.

No More Untouchables

BY A sweeping decree of the Indian National Council, the caste system has been abolished in India, where millions of lowly Asiatics have led lives that were one long horror of shame and abasement.

The movement was fought by the Brahmin priestly caste, which has had its foot on the necks of the untouchables for centuries. No one knows when this parish caste was instituted by the Brahmin overlords, who have exploited these sodden millions too long. The awakening must be credited in part to the teachings of Christianity which respect the rights of the common man. The action of the British Raj in leaving India to itself has had some bearing on the outcome. But if the matter had been left to the Brahmin, the Hindu or even the Buddhist faiths. It is likely that there would have been no abolishing of caste in our time.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League in India, has issued a manifesto insisting upon the right of some five hundred Indian tribes, large and small, to declare themselves independent and sovereign nations. Such action would be the height of folly, and in the long run India will be worse off if it prevails, than the country ever was under the British. India should remain one nation, and its salvation and progress depend upon its unity. The land was half wrecked before the British wedged their way in under the guise of the East India Company, and it is futile to deny that Britain alone has prevented a lot of throat-cutting in the most spectacular of all sub-continent.

The world is moving at a terrific clip. If you don't believe it, consider the wiping out of the caste system, once rock-ribbed in India, and the voluntary withdrawal of Great Britain from a land which has been paying London not less than a million dollars a day in revenues. We may be slipping in other ways, but here are two actions that are all to the good on a troubled and confused globe which is headed somewhere, but just where nobody knows. Decencies like these, on a vast scale, lend color to the hope that mankind will eventually come through to better things.

Close-up on Sugar

THE season has closed for sugar manufacturing in Cuba this year, and sugar now stored in this country will have to do for months to come. Much of this sugar is raw and it will be refined in U. S. mills. The Cuban crop this year was a good one, and the volume was somewhat larger than the average.

The U. S. Government has had the Cuban 1947 crop under contract, with three alternatives. It could move raw sugar in very large quantities, for refining here. It could refuse to move the sugar, and thus cause the closing of mills and the loss of production. Or it could store raw sugar in Cuba in sacks in the open, unprotected from the weather.

For the year 1947 as a whole there is in sight about 6,800,000 tons of sugar. There is really no more sugar available now than there was last winter, when the International Emergency Food Council recommended an allocation of the above tonnage for the U. S. during the year. It is estimated that the country will just get by, with fair amounts of available sugar to be distributed to countries needing it even more than we do.

The Canadian control board announced this week that sugar rationing will be continued in Canada for the present, and perhaps for the balance of the year. So far once the American consumer has a little the best of the Dominion, where most food supplies have been relatively more plentiful than they were here. In this case Canada is said to be voluntarily giving over a large percentage of its world sugar allowance for the benefit of Great Britain consumers, a fine and friendly gesture which should reap good dividends of sentiment in the long run.

MORE REVENUE NEEDED

(Marquette Mining Journal)

Whether Governor Sigler will sign or veto the bill increasing the state gasoline tax from three to four cents is uncertain. County and municipal authorities are urging him to approve it in order to meet the rising costs of road construction, improvement and maintenance. The Michigan Automobile club, taxpayers groups and trucking interests are fighting the measure as unnecessary, inflationary and poorly timed.

While there is much to be said for arguments of both sides of this controversial issue, the odds appear to weigh in favor of a tax increase. A four-cent tax is not out of line with levies of many other states, and there can be no question about the need for additional revenue for municipal and county street and highway development.

Under the pending bill the one-cent increase would be equally divided between cities and counties. The state would not share in the distribution. This, it appears, is the bill's major weakness, for the state, as well as cities and counties, needs additional revenue for highways. A better bill would have been one providing added income to the three divisions of government on an equal basis.

Northern Michigan has much to gain by approval of the bill. In session in Houghton this week, the Upper Peninsula Road Builders' association urged passage of the measure, pointing out that "continued financial stringency of road funds will jeopardize the educational system, will hinder delivery of mail and collection of milk and certainly will be no help to the expansion of the tourist industry."

Michigan, with its vast network of secondary roads leading to some of the nation's finest recreation areas, is engaged in keen competition with other states for tourist patronage. The utility of these areas will continue to be measured in terms of accessibility and the visitors' natural preference for good highways. The state must keep pace with highway development in other states or face certain and progressive decline of tourist business.

With growing trend toward consolidation of school districts in northern counties, the problem of snow removal has become critical. Unless counties in the snow belt can adequately finance snow removal, the whole educational system will break down and, of necessity, consolidation will be checked and rural communities forced to cling to one-room schools.

The Road Builders' association told the Governor that unless additional revenue is made available, snow removal will be curtailed and "the inconvenience suffered by the Southern Michigan rural resident will be a minor incident by comparison to the havoc reduced service will create in the Upper Peninsula."

Income for highway development was pegged by law 10 years ago. Despite nearly 100 per cent increase in costs and greatly increased demand for service, the gas tax has remained at three cents. An increase in the gas tax already has been too long delayed. The one-cent increase will mean little to the individual motorist, but it will mean the salvation of our highway system.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Our class would like to know the origin of the expression "to play hooky." Can you find it for us?—B. W. B.

A. To play hooky is an Americanism at least 100 years old. It comes from a slang expression, "hook it," used in the same meaning as the more modern "beat it," or "scram." "Hook it" apparently lost its "i" in popular speech and became hooky.

Q. What is the origin of the expression, "Jim Crow"?—H. A. S.

A. In 1832, Thomas D. Rice, a popular blackface comedian, introduced a song and dance called Jim Crow, which had the refrain: "Turn about, jump about, turn about so; ebery time I turn about, jump Jim Crow. You nebber get to Heben till you jump Jim Crow."

To "jump Jim Crow" became a popular expression meaning to jump or dance

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The first practical, functioning agency of the United Nations has come to the end of its existence. Buffeted, battle-scarred, beset by the fierce pulls of national rivalry, the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration is now a finished chapter in the dubious book of world cooperation.

In weary, hungry Europe, the UNRRA offices are closing. They are closing not because the job is done, but because fear and distrust prevented a working partnership in this elemental task.

The big question mark is what is to fill the gap from here on out. It is a hopeful portent that the foreign ministers of Britain, Russia and France are meeting in Paris to try to agree on a plan for European reconstruction that would eventually have the backing of American aid.

But, even if this succeeds, the need for immediate day-to-day relief remains. Eight hundred thousand refugees are still in UNRRA camps. They are the victims of Europe's anarchy, men and women who refuse to go home to servitude or persecution with torture and death as alternatives.

An effort is being made to form a new International Refugee Organization to take care of this part of the UNRRA job. But the effort is meeting serious obstacles. IRO is still a hopeful chart that may or may not come into being.

The United States loaned Arthur Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board, to help set up the new organization. Altmeyer went to Switzerland expecting to stay a few weeks. He has been in Geneva four months, wrestling with the problem until he is on the verge of a breakdown, according to reports here.

Congress has just now authorized U. S. participation in IRO. It will be well into July before money is appropriated to cover our share of the costs. IRO is committed to pay British and American occupation authorities for maintaining the refugee camps in the two zones. If this is enforced, there will not be enough out of IRO's $112,000,000 budget to last through the current year.

That leaves the refugees in a pretty uncertain state. They will probably be fed. But it doesn't take much imagination to think what this new uncertainty will mean to men and women who have lived under the long shadow of doubt for two or three or four years.

The refugees were a comparatively small part of UNRRA's job. Most of the money went for general relief.

The United States will now offer relief. The administrator of the American program, Richard F. Allen, a former Red Cross official, left for Europe the other day. Congress has authorized $350,000,000, but here again no money has been made available. The state department got an advance from the RFC of $75,000,000 in order to make a start. Similarly, no money has actually been appropriated for the Greek-Turkish program and the RFC came through with $100,000,000 on the cuff.

In the four years of its existence, UNRRA took much undeserved abuse. In instance after instance, charges that relief supplies were being used for political purposes were refuted. Yet the refutation rarely caught up with the noisy accusation.

With understandable pride, Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks pointed out in a final statement as director of UNRRA that it had distributed nearly $3 billion of supplies, about three times the value of relief provided after World War I. This went to 17 different countries. Inevitably in the wake of the most destructive war in history, there were difficulties, delay and waste.

UNRRA held off major epidemics of the kind of diseases ordinarily rampant after wars. It never had sufficient resources to prevent the spread of such plagues as tuberculosis, which is now widespread.

A year ago the United States signalled the end of UNRRA. This was done because of the relief that congress would not again appropriate money for an international relief organization. That was correct. But congress has been almighty slow about appropriating money for any kind of relief. We shall have reason to regret the untimely end of the only functioning U. N. organization which has now become history.

about.

Rice and his comical song and dance became the rage both here and in London. Here is a typical write-up from the New Orleans Picayune May 2, 1842: "In half an hour Rice was master of sympathy, melody, and all the steps, words and drollery of the far-famed and irresistible Jim Crow!"

Shortly thereafter, Jim Crow became a popular name for any Negro.

Use of Jim Crow in designating the separating of Negroes from whites dates from the middle of the last century, i. e., Jim Crow cars, Jim Crow laws, etc. However, this was not strictly a Southernism. I have found mention of Jim Crow schools in New York, Jim Crow cars in Massachusetts, Jim Crow bills, in Maryland, etc., at the turn of the century.

Q. Why is the Jew's-harp so called?—W. M.

A. The origin is lost in obscurity. The first mention I have found is in an old report of the proceedings of the Council of Maryland, 1637: "Shipped upon the good vessel knives, combs, fish hooks, Jew's-harps." Also, in an old business letter, 1756, appears the listing: "Brass Jew's-harps at 21/- but few left."

That it is wrong to end a sentence with a preposition is a superstition. My Preposition pamphlet cites highest authority on the correctness of the end-of-sentence preposition. For a free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS — The Fourth of July week end is just around the corner and you are probably planning a holiday trip somewhere. If you live out of Escanaba you will undoubtedly drive to Escanaba for the Hiawathaland Festival, or to Gladstone for the Rules world championship contest. Or you may drive somewhere to visit relatives over the weekend, or to a cottage on the lake, or a cabin in the woods.

It is the beginning of the vacation season in the Upper Peninsula for hundreds of thousands of people, both of Michigan and from outside. In this day most of the vacation travel is done on our highways. And for this reason there is the necessity for a warning on traffic safety. Be cautious, be careful, be alert on your vacation so that you may have many happy returns.

SAFE AND SANE—Family vacation trips, which constitute the bulk of tourist patronage in the Upper Peninsula, calls for cooperative "give and take" among the members of the family. Mother wants everyone happy—and social activity with a bridge game some evening. Father wants to fish and enjoy a game of golf. The children have their own interests, ranging from swimming and flirtations on the beach, to exploring a new area, and dancing in the evening at informal roadside places.

"Do the things you enjoy most, provided they are safe and sane," advises Dr. William DeKleine, Michigan department of health commissioner.

THE HAPPY STOMACH—Dr. DeKleine looks upon a vacation from the standpoint of health, for neither a vacation nor workday life itself can be enjoyable unless you are in good health. Eat sensibly and do not overeat, he advises. Eat lots of fresh fruits and vegetables but be sure to choose a clean eating place in your travels. Drink only pasteurized milk and only water that you know is safe.

PLENTY OF SUNSHINE—Sunshine is gloriously warming and revitalizing. It can also be a source of serious burns, heat prostration, and cause you to rue the day you gave your epidermis a double exposure.

When you combine hot noonday sunshine with strenuous work or play you are inviting trouble. This is particularly true of the vacationer, who probably is not in top physical condition in the first place, and unused to sweating it out in the fields like a farmhand.

So exercise moderately out of doors in the sunshine, and get your coat of tan gradually, avoiding severe sunburn. Dr. DeKleine advises.

Don't be like one man we know, who came north on his vacation and spent his first two days shingling his cottage roof in the blazing sun while dressed only in bathing trunks. He had ten days of his vacation left, and he spent those in bed, plastered with goo to prevent infection of his serious and all-over sunburn. He will remember that vacation for a long time—but it is a painful way to be taught a lesson.

WATCH THE WATER—Swimming is one of the most enjoyable of vacationtime sports. Yet it is hazardous and should be approached with caution. This warning is particularly needed for the youngsters, who are inclined to be venturesome and even foolhardy when around the water.

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Berlin—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler assured Thomas J. Watson of New York today that "there will not be any war." Watson, president-elect of the International Chamber of Commerce said Hitler told him substantially this in private conference.

Washington—President Roosevelt laughed away questions today as to whether he would run for a third term.

Harold Johnson, deputy sheriff in charge of the station at night, will be detailed to the newly created patrol of highways at night, it was announced yesterday by the sheriff, William Miron.

Assessed valuation of property in Delta county will be slightly less than last year, according to a report of the Delta county equalization committee which met Monday at the courthouse.

Twenty Years Ago

The tourist season in this region is in full swing. Recent hot weather in the cities has driven the automobile parties out into the open and it is expected that next week, and the two months to follow, will find all records for the number of outside visitors broken.

Paris—The government at Paris was notified this morning that the trans-Atlantic plane "America" dropped into the English channel 170 miles from Paris. All four aviators reached land safely, but the plane was badly damaged.

Cincinnati—The systematic execution of 15,000 robberies of 7,000 Catholic churches in every state in the United States and in Canada, during twenty seven years by a gang, whose leader held a grudge against the Catholic church was revealed here today.

Fireworks will be added to the program of the Fourth of July celebration to be staged here Monday under the auspices of the city administration. It was announced yesterday by City Manager T. F. Kessler.

on their vacation—burn their candle at both ends and come out of it feeling improved in health and spirit.

You know this type, too. They are the ones who come back from a vacation so pooped they have to rest on the job for a week. While they rest they recount what they did by day and by night and you have the feeling that their vacation program was about as enjoyable as the routine of a squirrel in a cage—and as pointless.

ACT YOUR AGE—So Dr. DeKleine advises people to sleep eight hours every night, although they are on vacation and want to cram as much activity into that period as they can.

And he also advises: "Oldsters, act your age! Avoid strenuous exercise."

You have seen, as we have, the aging lady and gentleman who, when they go on vacation, believe they can leave their cardiac condition or their arthritis behind with the family cat. So they embark on a round of play that would tax the physical capacity of much younger persons and they pay for it in shortened lives and painful symptoms of over-exertion. Your physician's orders can no more be ignored on a vacation than at any other time.

WATCH THE WATER—Swimming is one of the most enjoyable of vacationtime sports. Yet it is hazardous and should be approached with caution. This warning is particularly needed for the youngsters, who are inclined to be venturesome and even foolhardy when around the water.

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) mail this coupon and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Daily Press Service Bureau, 1217 Thirtieth St., Washington 5, D. Q. Does the U. S. have a seaweed industry?

A. Yes. The collecting of Irish moss or carrageen is the oldest seaweed industry in the U. S. For a century it has been harvested and sold. Recently from it has been prepared carrageenin, an extract used as a stabilizer in chocolate milk, salad dressing, soda fountain and cough syrups, toothpaste, cosmetics, paint, beer and pharmaceutical products. Sea moss was first gathered in 1835 in Ireland. It was found off the coast of Massachusetts in 1847. Although the American product was considered superior, it was only after the beginning of the recent war, when overseas shipments no longer were available and prolific beds were discovered along the coast of Maine that the American industry began to expand.

Q. Do the Negro Primitive Baptists have an organization as do other religious groups?

A. They are opposed to all forms of church organization.

Q. What is the best way to destroy bacteria in milk?

A. By pasteurizing it. To do this the milk must be held at a temperature of 145 degrees for 30 minutes.

Q. When were regulation boxing gloves used for the first time?

A. In 1892, at New Orleans, when James J. Corbett won the heavyweight boxing championship of the world from John L. Sullivan.

Q. Did a fleet of ships ever travel across country from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic Coast?

A. During the recent war 52 LCM's (Landing Craft for Mechanized Equipment) were freighted across country by rail. The operation was made possible by cutting the LCM's into sections suitable for shipment. It was the first time that the Navy undertook to transfer such a large fleet so long a distance overland.

MODERATION—Your vacation can be a time of physical, mental and spiritual revitalization or it can mean weariness, worry and heartbreak.

What it will be for you will depend for the most part on what you and your family make it.

"Be moderate in all things—don't argue—take it easy and have some fun," is Dr. DeKleine's parting advice.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—The White House press kept it quiet, but Paul M. Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, and his NLRB associates, John M. Houston and James J. Reynolds, offered their resignations privately to President Truman last week.

However, despite a vigorous demand from GOP Senator Martin of Pennsylvania that the entire board resign, the President refused to listen. Herzog told Truman that it might prove embarrassing to the three old board members to remain on the job under the Taft-Hartley law bill which the NLRB must now enforce.

"Under the circumstances, we feel we should step aside and enable you to appoint others to our places," Herzog explained. "Some people may not have confidence in our administration of the law, since it got out to the press that we recommended a veto. Since our position is known, you might become a target of criticism, if we are charged with enforcement of the act."

"Can you administer this act fairly and in the public interest, even though you recommended a veto?" Truman asked his caller.

"Certainly we can," was the unanimous reply.

"I know you can," agreed the President. "And for that reason I am refusing to accept resignations from any of you. We've got a tough job ahead and I will need your help and experience to make a go of it."

"I was against this bill, also—so much so that I vetoed it, but I'm not quitting," Truman added brusquely. "Under our constitutional system, it is my duty to veto a bill if I do not think it is a good bill, but it is equally my duty to enforce a bill if it becomes law over my head, like the Taft-Hartley act."

"So let's all of us get busy and see to it that this new law is efficiently carried out, night and day. You fellows can forget about quitting. I won't let you."

—JED AND JUDICIAL DECORUM—
Popular Chief Justice Fred Vinson descended from the marble supreme court building last week to the granite halls of the department of justice to administer the oath of office to Oklahoma's ex-Congressman Jed Johnson as a judge of the U. S. Customs court.

Various friends of the former Oklahoma congressman were on hand, including Washington lawyer Roy St. Lewis, once a federal attorney in Oklahoma City.

After he was sworn in, Johnson was introducing guests who did not know each other, and started to present St. Lewis to another friend.

"Apart from being a Republican," Johnson began, "Roy here is—"

Suddenly he stopped. The Chief Justice of the United States had plucked at his sleeve. Johnson and Vinson, a former congressman himself, whispered for a moment, then Johnson returned to finish his introduction of Roy St. Lewis.

"Let's start all over again. I forgot that I'm a judge now!"

—REASON FOR GAS SHORTAGE—

Two-listed Senator Owen Brewster of Maine smells a rat regarding the Midwest oil shortage.

Brewster, who is one of the keenest probes in the senate and inherited Harry Truman's old committee, has been conducting a thorough investigation of the Arabian oil situation and suspects that the so-called oil shortage, which has prompted some oil companies to reinstate gasoline rationing, is purely a fake.

Brewster has reason to believe that the big oil companies have whipped up the oil shortage story solely for the purpose of convincing Americans that oil must be imported from the Middle East. The big oil companies, he finds, plan to bring in half a million tons of Arabian oil this summer, just to convince the American public of the urgency for spending hundreds of millions of dollars to protect American oil interests in the Middle East.

—REVAMPING COURTS-MARTIAL—

GI's will now get a better break on court-martial—if the plan of a house subcommittee goes through.

Working behind closed doors, the subcommittee patched together a bill that will require no less than one-third enlisted men to sit on military courts which try fellow GI's if the defendant requests it. A two-thirds majority is necessary before punishment can be handed down. The bill also will remove the judge advocate's section, the army's arm of justice, from the regular chain of command.

However, the subcommittee hasn't taken up navy, justice, recently the cause of many gripes because of the secret little court-martial. Navy courts-martial will be studied next.

MERRY-GO-ROUND—

Retiring Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden and his entire staff of Latin American experts have flatly refused to testify for the bill to arm the western hemisphere. They are convinced that arming Latin America will only bring war and dictatorship to that area. . . . Congressman Kelley of Pennsylvania, a delegate to the International Labor Organization conference in Switzerland, may rush home because of the coal situation. Kelley owns a coal mine. . . . During the last congressional campaign, John L. Lewis fought desperately to defeat West Virginia's Senator Harley Kilgore, a real friend of the miners. Lewis played in with Republican Senator

Dominican Brothers Will Sing At Field Mass Here

Group Leaving For Legion Convention

C. Elmer Olson, delegate of Cloverland Post, No. 82, American Legion, is leaving this morning for Detroit where he will attend the Department of Michigan convention which will be held July 3-6. Mr. Olson, who is being accompanied to Detroit by Mrs. Olson, will be installed as 11th district committeeman at the meeting. Also leaving for the convention sessions are Ralph Olson, Tom Beaton and Elmer St. Martin. Mr. St. Martin is to be installed as Grand Chief-de-Traire of the Upper Peninsula 40 and 8.

FEAR SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS

Instructors In Science Will Be Scarce, Claim

Cambridge, Mass., (SS)—Although industries, colleges and secondary schools are demanding more science teachers, only three out of each 1,000 teachers of tomorrow are preparing to become science teachers.

This serious situation, revealed by a survey of 18 of America's largest teacher-training institutions made by Prof. Fletcher G. Watson of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, is causing concern in scientific, governmental and industrial circles.

Out of 120,000 teachers-in-training, only 307 are specializing in either science or mathematics, Dr. Watson found.

Many science teachers in both high schools and colleges left their classrooms during the war to join the armed forces or undertake technical tasks in production and research. Many did not return and the influx of G. I. and other students added teaching loads. Schools and colleges as a result are still understaffed in comparison with prewar conditions, and they are asked to carry a much heavier load.

Adding to the danger in the situation is the realization that it takes at least six years for a capable 18-year-old to train himself for effective scientific research. Estimates show that the loss to science personnel due to the war was 150,000 undergraduates who would have been granted bachelor's degrees in science and technology. Some would have gone on for doctoral degrees training to carry on original research. Now there is a shortage of 3,375 Ph. D. scientists, with the figure expected to climb to 16,870 by 1955.

In addition to this need for professional scientists, Dr. Watson warns that unless some means is found to counteract the lack of science teachers for the future, industry and the whole nation may find that our future voters will have less comprehension of the function and place of science in our civilization.

DR. HARRISON ARRIVES HERE

Delta-Menominee Health Officer In Charge Of District

Dr. William C. Harrison of Crystal Falls yesterday began his work as director of the Delta-Menominee district health department. He came to Escanaba directly from Minneapolis, Minn., where he recently received his masters degree in the University of Minnesota school of public health.

The merger of the health units in Delta and Menominee counties became effective July 1, and the consolidation was accomplished by affirmative vote of the supervisors of the two county boards.

"The trend in the state is toward consolidation of health units and the members of the county boards are to be complimented for their progressive foresight," Dr. Harrison commented.

Dr. Harrison announced the names of other new district health staff members, who will either divide their time between the two counties or be stationed in one or the other of the counties. The district office will be located in Escanaba, with a branch office in Menominee.

Starting work today were J. L. "Larry" Griffith of Menominee, senior sanitarian for the health district, who will continue to reside in Menominee temporarily; and Mary Brimberry, supervising nurse, on loan from the U. S. Public Health Service, who has been employed in the Ontonagon health district.

On July 7 Marjorie Garrow, a staff nurse, will come to Escanaba from Dallas, Texas; and on that date Marian Berg, staff nurse from the Chicago Health department, will report for duty in the Menominee office of the district department.

Dr. Harrison will move his family here from Minneapolis as soon as he can find a suitable residence in Escanaba. Besides his wife are two sons, William and Tom, and a daughter, Catherine.

TOURIST FACILITIES

To the U. P. Tourist Bureau:

As a guest for the first time at Uno Lake I was very much disappointed at not finding at least one open fire pit or stove to cook on. You send out lure books in lovely colors to attract tourists to the land of the red buck, yet what does one see when approaching these lakes where the big ones are? A lot of tin cans and garbage thrown around by tourists. A couple of refuse cans would help.

Why not make a couple of fire pits with grates so the visitors can fry the panfish they catch without making a big log fire with the danger of starting a forest fire. I saw perfectly good trees cut down to use for firewood.

Now come on, you fellows, and do something about it. Then the lakes and camping grounds, will be advertised by word of mouth faster than all the fancy-colored books you can put out.

You might remember that women go to these fishing spots, too, and they could make good use of a few rough board tables and places on which to cook. Who wants to sit on the ground with ants and snakes? I like nature in the raw, but not that raw. I hope that by the time I see that place again things will be different. There were at least 15 cars there the other day, some from as far away as California. Just wonder what kind of publicity they will give that place when they go back. I am only one of the home folks, but would like to see something done.

Sincerely,
Mrs. N. Olson,

Dragonflies Now On The Crawl In Northern Michigan

Trout Lake, Mich.—One of the most unusual and dramatic stages in the metamorphosis of the dragon-fly has been taking place along the water's edge of a group of small lakes that form the Trout Lake region of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. After living under water during the winter months, the insects are now crawling by the thousands to logs and driftwood bordering the shore lines of Frenchman, Wegwas, Little Trout and Big Trout lakes.

Eagerly awaited by hundreds of tourists and campers, the mosquito hawk, so called because it feeds on the summer vacationist's enemy, rests on the shore line for five minutes before starting to break out of its larval form. Their mortality rate is high, a large number being destroyed by black ants who await their ascension from the bottom of the lakes. Ten minutes after they crawl on shore, the dragon-flies are ready for their first flight, which is usually from five to ten feet.

Valerie Schultz
And Frank Gaber
Wed In Harris

Valerie Mae Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Schultz, of LaBranche and Frank Gaber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gaber, also of LaBranche, were united in marriage at a ceremony which took place in the Polish Catholic National church in Harris, at 2 o'clock on June 28. The vows were spoken before Rev. Joseph A. Blyn.

Bridal wreath and white lilies were arranged on the altars of the church for the service. Mrs. Blyn played the bridal music, including "I Love You Truly."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with lace inserts, made with a square neckline, long sleeves which ended in points over the wrist, and a full skirt which formed a court train. Her only jewelry was a gold locket, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a shower bouquet of white mums and lilies of the valley.

Her twin sisters, Rose Arlene and Ruth Dene, were her attendants. Ruth wore blue net over taffeta and Rose's gown was pink net over taffeta, the gowns styled with fitted bodices, heart shaped necklines and full skirts. They carried bouquets of mixed flowers, roses, carnations, snapdragons and gladioli, with contrasting satin ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Schultz wore a navy blue dress with light blue accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Gaber wore a blue print with black accessories.

IN A NUTSHELL

Now is a good time to plan a walnut treat for your family. Besides being a good dress up for desserts and salads, walnuts have plenty of sales talk as far as nutritive value is concerned. They're a source of protein and an outstanding source of fat. In addition they provide B vitamins and a little iron and calcium.

When buying a new cook book, look to see if oven temperatures, approximate cooking and baking times, size of pans and number of servings are indicated.

Don't wash strawberries until just before they're to be used. Remove the green caps only after the berries have been washed.

Right Clothes Solve Tall-Girl Dilemma

If you're tall, summer is your magic season, says Dorothy Ford, Hollywood starlet. Dorothy ought to know—barefooted, she hits the measuring rod at 6 feet. She says:

"Tall girls can look dreamy in bathing suits. There is so much more of them to get a sunbronzed look and their long legged beauty can lend enchantment to the beach parade. Furthermore, they usually have better figures, and don't have to worry about dieting. Potatoes and pastries have more room for distribution on big girls than little girls."

But, admonishes Dorothy, the tall girl must be proud of her height to look attractive. She shouldn't slink, stoop or slouch just because she towers over her sisters.

In any season Dorothy doesn't mind being tall. That's why she can't understand any girl being self-conscious about her height. But lots of them are.

No matter what the problem as a result of being tall, it can be solved, she says. The girl who is awkward can study ballet as Dorothy did to help develop grace. The right clothes will also prove a big help, says Dorothy, who offers this advice to tall girls:

Two colors are better than one will help to cut your height. (Plain black will make you look taller).

Bright belts are a boost and break up the straight elongating line.

Long dresses will make tall girls look taller, so skip the long-dress fashions if they make you look like a bean pole.

Accessories should be dramatic. Tiny or little pillbox type of hats look ridiculous on the tall girl. Big dramatic shoulder-strap bags, tailored clothes and chunky jewelry will complement her best.

Contrary to popular opinion high heels are the most flattering for big girls, she has found. She thinks this is because most tall girls have big feet and when they wear the low-heeled types it makes their feet look enormous.

In the beauty department, wear the hair down. An upswing will not only make you look taller but a down-haired will give more softness to the face and big girls who are big-featured can use this softening effect.

Dates are no problem to Dorothy who is one of the most popular girls in Hollywood in spite of the fact that she is one of the tallest. There are plenty of men in the 6 feet bracket, though they may be a little shorter than she. But it's not so noticeable when you are both tall, says Dorothy. Only once did Dorothy think

HOTEL RENTAL RATES TO RISE

Death Of OPA Control Brings On Upward Revisions

(By The Associated Press)

Many permanent hotel residents in cities throughout the country were notified Tuesday that their room rates are going up.

A spot check of representative cities from coast to coast indicated that with the death of OPA controls on hotel rents, the majority of permanent hotel residents could expect some upward revision in their rates.

The situation varied radically, even within individual cities, but a 15 percent boost was the figure most frequently reported.

Some hotels said no increase in rates was contemplated. Other hotels reported increases ranging from a "moderate adjustment" to one isolated boost of 300 percent.

Reports from the various cities included:

New York — The New York Hotel Association said it does not expect anything "very drastic" although there "may be some adjustments to balance inequities in rents." One hotel notified a tenant that effective August 1 his rental would increase from $100 to $118 monthly.

Chicago — The Edgewater Beach hotel said it would boost rates for its 400 permanent guests "no higher than 15 percent" next month. The Southmoor Hotel announced a similar boost for 243 permanent guests. However, an official of the huge Stevens Hotel said no rate increase was planned.

Detroit — The Fort Shelby Hotel lowered discount rates to permanent residents from 33 1/3 percent to 15 percent. One small hotel raised rates from $15 to $35 weekly. Most other hotels have not announced their plans.

U. S. A. Information Staff In Moscow Feels Economy Cut

BY EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, July 1. (AP) — The United States Information Service here has drastically reduced its staff because of economy moves in Washington, it was learned today.

Four of the six American employees in the Moscow office have been notified they no longer are needed. It also was learned that the Soviet staff of the information service will be curtailed.

In addition, it was indicated, there may be a reduction in the local program of monitoring "The Voice of America"—Russian language broadcast from the United States.

The four Americans who have received notices include an assistant director of the information service, the wife of an American correspondent in Moscow, the son of one of the service's attaches, and a woman typist-clerk.

(A Madrid dispatch said "Casa Americana," which the U. S. embassy maintains as an information and cultural center, has been virtually closed because of a lack of funds for the fiscal year beginning today. Approximately 20 employees, including three Americans, have been dismissed.

(In Sidney, Australia, the U. S. embassy said the American information service in Australia would be terminated July 31).

Internal Revenue Staff In Michigan Feels Budget Cut

Detroit, July 1. (AP) — The effect of reduced congressional appropriations began to make itself felt in Michigan today.

Giles Kavanaugh, collector of internal revenue, issued dismissal notices to 78 employees and said in addition 187 vacancies, some "very important," would not be filled.

The Michigan collector's office employees approximately 1,250 persons.

Collector of Customs Martin Bradley fired 27 wartime employees engaged in border patrol work.

Half-Year License To Be Eliminated For Michigan Cars

Lansing, July 1. (AP) — The department of state plans next year to eliminate all half-year license plates for motor vehicles.

The decision will affect truckers mainly, since half-year plates for private cars were not sold this year.

The department said that reduced fees for licensed plates for the remaining portion of the license year will go into effect August 11.

Weather Man Sees Rain For Weekend

East Lansing, July 1. (AP) — Michigan will be in for a rainy Fourth of July weekend, according to the long-range forecast of the U. S. weather bureau here.

The weather bureau warned would-be weekenders that scattered thunderstorms and showers will bring rain averaging one half inch to the state Thursday and Friday. Slightly cooler weather also was forecast for the weekend.

Five-Run Seventh Helps Indians Top Brownies, 9 and 3

St. Louis, July 1. (AP) — A five-run seventh inning with home runs by Hank Edwards and Ken Keltner sent the Cleveland Indians on to a 9 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns tonight. Jeff Heath and Vern Stephens hit circuit blows for the Browns in the contest which saw eight two-base hits for both clubs.

Bob Feller started on the mound for Cleveland, struck out the first three St. Louis batters to face him, but in the second inning Paul Lehner and Walt Judnich nicked Bob for singles after Bill Hitchcock fled out. Feller complained of a sore back and Steve Gromek took over mound duties for the Indians.

FRENCH POLICE THWART REVOLT

Plot To Seize Airports And Fighting Planes Nipped In Bud

BY MEL MOST

Paris, July 1. (AP) — The national security police said today a conspirators' plot to seize all of France's military airports and her fighter and bombing planes had been smashed.

The plot evidently was part of an over-all plan by a right wing underground organization which called itself the Black Maquis to overthrow the fourth republic by civil war next month and establish a military dictatorship. The government announced yesterday the Black Maquis' plan had been thwarted.

The police organization's general information bureau said Capt. Roger Prat of the French Air Force had been arrested in connection with the military airport plot. At a given signal, the police said, many members of the air force would attempt to seize the flying fields.

As the security police ranged through France seeking to capture conspirators involved in the revolutionary conspiracy, it was announced that Claude Chauvel, 20-year-old son of the secretary-general of the foreign affairs ministry, had been arrested.

Earlier, a man who described himself as a leader in the attempt to establish an "anti-Communist" government in France said in an interview that 25,000 armed men were ready to lead a "march on Paris at the appropriate moment."

Evasions Await Action
Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., who retired today as internal revenue commissioner to open a law office here, expressed "regret" over the congressional cut in bureau funds. He told reporters his successor, George J. Schoeneman, will be handicapped because of shortage of employees.

Mr. Truman said the government's investment in training of employees "in the technical work of tax administration" should not be "dissipated."

"Once these people are released it is not reasonable to suppose that they will be available for reemployment should additional funds be provided later," the president said.

"It will take years to restore the damage done by the failure of the Congress to support the current efforts of our tax collecting agency."

Mr. Truman said with present personnel there is "a backlog of 30,000 'leads' in tax evasions awaiting investigation."

"The vast majority of our taxpayers are scrupulously honest in tax matters," he said. "Taxpayer morale is now generally high, but it will remain so only if the odds remain strong that the would-be tax evader will be detected and punished."

People "are entitled to adequate administrative controls to insure that the dishonest do no shift their share (of support of the government) to the honest," he said.

Cronin Announces American League All-Star Hurlers

Chicago, July 1. (AP) — Three New York Yankee hurlers and nationals Bobby Feller of Cleveland and Hal Newhouser of Detroit dominated an eight-man American league pitching staff chosen today for the 14th All-Star baseball game at Wrigley field next Tuesday.

The mound corps was picked by Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox, who will direct the American leaguers and whose other personnel has been selected in a poll of 1973,493 fans conducted by the Chicago Tribune and Associated newspapers, radio stations and magazines.

The American league All-Star pitching nominations, besides Feller and Newhouser, include freshman hot-shot Frank Shea, Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler and Joe Page of the Yankees, Paul (Dizzy) Trout of Detroit, Jack Kramer of St. Louis and Walt Masterson of Washington.

In addition to the eight starters named in the fan balloting, Manager Cronin also followed poll sentiment in rounding out the 25-player American league squad for the battle with the National league squad bossed by Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The starting lineup, exclusive

BIRLIGIGS

By GEORGE T. SPRINGER

Jimmie Running, of Eau Claire, the world's champion, will lay his title on the line at the coming roleo and will be defending it for the first time since he won it here in 1942 when the roleo was suspended on account of the war. In reflecting on Jimmie, my thoughts turn back to the first time I met him in the fall of 1937 at the Minnesota State Fair where he was appearing in Jimmie Murray's birling act, Men of The Old North, on the Midway. At that time he was in his early teens. He was a homesick youngster after tramping all over the United States and Canada and St. Paul was as close to home as he had been since he joined the troupe. We sat on his bunk in a tent back of the log exchanging calks and the conversation was principally about the World's Championship Roleo which had a short time before been held at Escanaba. The one thought uppermost in his mind was to get home and when the show finished its engagement he was on his way. It was apparent to me that eighteen and twenty shows a day had made his nerves jagged and I was quite in sympathy with him. I did not see him again till the fall of 1940 when he appeared in a birling exhibition at the first annual Midwest Winter Sports and Auto Show at the St. Paul auditorium. Sepp Benedikt, Austrian ski expert, who had been performing on the indoor ski slide, was injured and Jimmie, who is an expert ski jumper in his own right, volunteered to take his place. He suffered a severe head injury when he overshot the landing mark and fell. Picked up unconscious, he was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital where he regained consciousness at 2 a. m. following his fall at 10:30 p. m. the night before. Upon regaining consciousness, he told the doctor, "I feel fine and am ready to go on with the show." That statement is typical of the intestinal fortitude possessed by the champion. In 1941, he was in a ski meet at Walhalla, near Washburn, Wisconsin, and was badly injured when landing on his shoulder. As he was being carried away on a stretcher, Chick Sheridan, who was one of the officials, leaned over the stretcher and said, "I guess this finishes you for the roleo Jimmie." He replied with a smile, "I'll be there Chick." And he was. Upper Peninsula skiing fans will no doubt recall having seen him at the Pine Mountain slide at Iron Mountain.

In my association with birling, I have had an opportunity to observe closely the contestants who have aspired to the title of King of The White Waters and I have seen them under the pressure of the final match but never have I seen a birlor who entered the final match with more nonchalance than Jimmie Running in 1942. He showed no more concern than a tax assessor. He entered the match singing, "I've got bells that jingle, jangle, jingle" and every time he landed on the raft during the change of logs he was still singing it. Jimmie, by the way, is a protégé of Wilbur N. Marx, the champion of champions. You can bet he'll be in there pitching to keep the title and watching him will be a proud wife and young son for whom the champion already has birling aspirations.

Many humorous things have happened in the realm of sports, like the night Kid Williams stepped into the ring at Pittsburgh preparatory to his battle with Leon Jones. The announcer walked to the center of the ring and was about to say "and in this corner wearing black trunks—" But suddenly the crowd roared. The kid wasn't wearing any trunks. Birling, too, can add one for the book and it was identical. Joe Connor and Jim Johnson were performing at the sportsman show in Des Moines a few years ago and were going through the routine of what is termed the pants act. In this act, the birlers, while on the log, exchange clothing. Both had removed their shirts and the next part of the routine was to remove their trousers. Down they came and Jimmie took one look at Joe and saw that he had no trunks on and he started to laugh and immediately pointed to Joe's midriff to

They reached Gladstone from both coasts yesterday for the Roleo.

Jimmie Herron, former birling champion, and his brother, Eddie, arrived from Kelso, Wash., yesterday morning in quest of some of the $1,800 pot of money offered the winners of the national championship log-rolling matches. Herron won the title in 1938 at Escanaba and repeated in 1941 at Gladstone in a match against Joe Connor which probably was as thrilling as any title event. He was unable to defend his title in 1942 but, back from service in the U. S. Coast Guard, he is again out gunning for the crown now held by Jimmie Running, of Eau Claire, Wis.

Perry Greene, famed outdoorsman who was the subject of an illustrated feature article in the Saturday Evening Post, reached here yesterday following a 1,450 mile trip from his home in Maine. Extremes of weather were struck enroute. At one point he had to fashion ventilators to force air in on his famous Chinook dogs to combat the heat. In Ohio he ran into a cloudburst that made windshield wipers useless and forced all auto traffic to halt at the side of the roadways. Fields in the area became lakes he said.

Greene will be the main feature of the Cleveland Sports Show, Sept. 10-19.

Ed Meeks of the Atkins Saw company has arrived and will give demonstrations of his ability as a sawyer and will help put on the sawing contests.

There is a possibility that Paul apprise him of his predicament but Joe thought Jimmie was just trying to be funny and started to laugh himself still not realizing the message Jimmie was trying to convey to him. Finally, Jimmie got to laughing so hard he fell off the log. When Joe finally tumbled to what had caused all of Jimmie's merriment, his face turned redder than his shock of red hair.

In 1898, the first World's Championship Roleo was held at the Omaha Exposition. Before 36,000 spectators—the largest crowd ever to witness birling contests—Tom Fleming, of Eau Claire, defeated Al Stewart, a fellow townsman. Next year will mark the 50th anniversary of that event and the 1948 roleo should be built around that historic occasion.

"Bunyan" Criss, who swishes whiskers from bearded chins with a two-bit ax with a dexterity that sends shivers down your spine, will return to Gladstone for the outdoor event.

The Rialto Camera Mart and Strato-Fliers, co-sponsors of the Model Airplane show, yesterday reported entry of a west coast model builder, Guy E. Dake, of Oakland, Calif. He is a member of the Cloud Dusters club of the same city. He entered the Class B open gas model event and his ship is one of his own design powered with a DeLong 30 engine.

Roleo Chairman D. A. Mathison said that the Diston Saw company was sending a representative here to give a demonstration with a chain saw.

Ed Drier, official photographer for the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, will come to Delta county to cover the Roleo.

Bulla Leads Five Yanks In British Open Golf Quest

Hoylake, England, July 1 (AP)—Curly-haired Johnny Bulla, an Arizona golfer who pilots an airplane for a living, shot a scorching 67 today and led an unbroken contingent of five Americans into the finals of the British Open and the crown being given up by Sam Snead.

Bulla's score, which missed the day-old record of the Arrowe Park course by a single stroke, gave him a two-day card of 142 and third place in the field of 100 who tomorrow shoot the first 18 holes of the tournament proper over the Hoylake layout.

Frank Stranahan, temperamental amateur from Toledo, Ohio, barged in with a 71 over Hoylake for 144 and fifth place. Other Americans' scores were Vic Ghezzi of Kansas City, Kas., with 69-72-151; Robert Sweeney, Jr., of California and London, with 70-79-149; and Staff Sgt. Charles Jennings of Medford, N. J., and the U. S. Air Force, whose aggregate of 149 was made up of rounds of 78-73.

Norma Van Nida, tiny Australian, led the way after tacking a 69 to his first round 70 for a 139 that was three strokes better than Bulla's total and two blows less than registered by Art Lees, little known British pro.

Al Tells How To Plan Northern Fishing Trip

By PHIL RICH
Thessalon, Ontario—Al Weber, one of Michigan's outstanding outdoor men of all time, has promised to write a few "observations" for this airtrip. Al has been busy as a bee, fishing, looking at the country and talking with people wherever he goes. What he sees and hears may be different than what I have told about in this series.

So here's Al's slant:
Phil Rich's desire for a word from his companions is not predicated on how much we have personally got out of the trip. Nor are we to measure our air trip by the number of fish caught and what we can take home. Instead we should make an analysis of what's wrong and what is right in the bush. Also in the communities and villages.

No complaint can be made about Canadian friendliness, helpfulness and the length they will go to entertain, to aid and make pleasant the stay of their visitors. Generally Canadians do not adopt the slogan "get while the getting is good." Instead they are inclined to be too helpful. There is, however, a growing element, establishing vacation and tourist camps who assume a selfish attitude as they milk "Canada" only for themselves.

They complain because airplane parties come in, particularly if they do not patronize them and they sob and complain that these air visitors are robbing every lake and taking out loads of non-reported fish and game.

Canada's problem is to plant more fish in its lakes and streams. What the fishing is today is no indication of what it will be next year. Lakes we fished last year seemed sterile. This year they produced fish, big fish, fighting fish, beautiful fish.

The question of more fish is the same in Michigan. And to set one's self up as the judge is fish-ry folly.

There are thousands upon thousands of lakes in Canada. But only a comparatively few that the average plane can land on and still get off the water again. And airfields are few and far between. A couple of thousand feet up in the air, those big and little lakes look yards and rods apart. But get down in the bush, between great rock piles and boulders and an occasional swamp and they are found to be miles apart. Only the Indian guides can lead the way.

There are auto trails, too, in some areas. They have been made principally to get the timber out. Some of these look like roads from the air, but are really ice roads, skidroads, etc., for timber.

Most lakes are one or two miles back in the hills are too far away and through too thick and hard going for the average person.

Before we mark out a program, let us provide ourselves with a good map of Ontario or that part of Ontario we expect to visit. We can then unravel some of its mysteries.

We have map 32A, showing parts of the districts of Algoma and Sudbury—a great area you will never learn all about. An area crowded full of big and little cold-water lakes, rushing rivers, great and thrilling waterfalls, fish of many kinds in different lakes. The map we mention was printed in 1932 and put out by the Department of Surveys with headquarters in Toronto, you can usually get it for a nominal sum at the Soo in the postoffice building through the Lands and Forest department. Other big maps have been printed since, but this one will suffice.

First you better put some tape at the folds because you'll be stretching it out a lot on the ground or in camp. On it you can follow the water courses; survey its thousands of lakes; look for its portages (and it's well to spot these if you go by canoe). You'll thrill at the Indian or French names attached to most of those lakes and streams.

You may believe those lakes and streams are just teeming with all kinds of fish—brook, brown and rainbow trout, pike, bass, walleyes. But it is best to consult guides or sportsmen or woodsmen who have been there before. Otherwise you will spend much time on lakes looking for fish that are not there.

From the plane we see a great blanket of different shades of green far below. As we fly north the timber grows smaller. Pine is gradually giving way to spruce and tamarack and jack pine. Those verdant blankets are cut up in crazy quilt patterns by narrow rivulets, snake-like rivers, and lakes galore. The rivers run down presumed valleys and high rock hills. You cannot measure height and distance with the eye when up there in the plane.

What looks like rolling country from a few thousand feet proves to be cliff-like walls when we come down to lake-level. It is easy to spot the lakes from the air—especially the little lakes where speckled trout are often found. But when you arrive at the big "landing-lake" it may spoil a day to get to the lake which seemed to be "just over the hill."

In any event the best fishing in Canada will probably come in the years ahead when more fish are planted in the lakes now awaiting development.

DRIVE SAFELY,
PUBLIC URGEDSgt. Wixom Asks Careful
Driving Over July
4th Weekend

Sgt. Willard W. Wixom, commander of the Gladstone Post, Michigan State Police, urges drivers to use the utmost caution in driving over the July Fourth weekend in an effort to keep traffic accidents at a minimum.

Because of the heavy Fourth of July holiday traffic, state police will maintain maximum patrols July 3 through July 7.

The State Highway department estimates that traffic volumes throughout the state, if fair weather prevails, will be 20 to 25 per cent higher than last year's experience and 5 to 10 per cent higher than 1941 experience over the Fourth of July period. Travel is expected to be heavy on the Fourth, decrease somewhat on Saturday and reach a peak on Sunday afternoon from about 3 p. m. to 10, particularly on routes leading into the larger urban centers.

Ten persons were killed in motor vehicle traffic crashes last year over the holiday period, the lowest number during the past nine years. There were 22 persons killed in 1941, the last pre-war year. On the basis of traffic records, as many as 500 personal injuries and 1,500 to 2,000 traffic accidents may be anticipated unless enforcement efforts are effective and the public cooperates in driving safely.

Nation's Sleeping
Car Service Taken Over By Railroads

Wilmington, Del.—(AP)—The nation's sleeping car facilities today passed into the hands of 57 railroads.

In a brief ceremony, three railroad officials turned over checks totaling $40,202,482 to L. S. Taylor, vice president of Pullman, Inc., which thus divested itself of the Pullman company, its sleeping car subsidiary.

The action ended seven years of litigation in the government's anti-trust action against Pullman, Inc., under a court order, Pullman was required to sell either the Pullman company or its car-making subsidiary, Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co.

The 80-year-old sleeping car empire founded by George M. Pullman elected to sell the sleeping car service and after another court battle, the buying group of railroads was accepted as the purchaser.

Iceland's Mt. Hekla
Erupts Same Type
Lava As Before

London, (SS.)—When Iceland's famous volcano, Mt. Hekla, erupted last March, it was news, but a scientist has found that the lava which flowed from the crater was nothing new, geologically.

Dr. G. W. Tyrrell of the geology department of University of Glasgow in Scotland received a sample of lava from this year's eruption of Mt. Hekla and compared it with earlier samples, including one collected by a British scientist in Iceland in 1810.

The geologist's conclusion: Same old stuff.

Or as Dr. Tyrrell concluded in a report to the British journal, Nature: "It may therefore be concluded that the recent basalt lavas of Iceland are very uniform in composition and that there has been little or no change in that respect during the historical period."

LONG DELAYED
CLAIM ALLOWEDLost Service Records
Caused Much Red
Tape

Charles Watson, Manistique Route 2, received a letter in Monday's mail that had long been overdue.

It was a message from the War Department informing him that his disability claim had been allowed and that he was to receive a monthly check. The letter also contained a back pay check covering payments for the past year.

Presentation of veteran's claims and their allowance are nothing new. But Watson's case was different. The government never questioned his right to a claim, but the War Department insisted that his war record and case history be complete before the claim be allowed. Most of Watson's service records were destroyed when his unit was captured by the Nazis in the Battle of the Bulge.

Shortly after his capture, Watson was badly treated by members of the German guard. He was mauled about the chest with a gun butt and received many other bruises which left him permanently disabled.

Seventeen months ago he sought the services of the Schoolcraft County Counsel of Veterans Affairs in getting hospitalization. It was then that his claim for disability allowances were first looked into. Hospitalization was readily granted but his disability allowance was delayed. Leonard Mulhaupt, veterans' counsel, wrote letters and filled out forms. This brought on more letters and more forms and affidavits. Representatives of the veterans' bureau called and interviewed. Then came more requests for letters, affidavits, blank forms to fill out. Monday, the case was in the clear.

Cooperation Is Asked In Local War On Flies

Cooperation on the part of residents of Manistique in the summer war on flies is asked by James Dickson, city manager.

Garbage collectors are finding that there are maggots in many of the cans they empty, he said. Wherever this condition exists owners of these cans should clean them after they are emptied so as to kill off any of the maggots that may be left. In this way flies will be kept down to a minimum.

"Infantile paralysis germs are said to be spread by flies," says Dickson. "That should be incentive enough for a little extra care in killing off the maggots and keeping the covers of the cans on tight."

NO FILLET MIGNON
A law in one county in the state of Washington makes it illegal for menus to be printed in anything but the American language.

In loving memory of my beloved husband, Clifford Labadie, who passed away three years ago today, July 2, 1944.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear;

But not too far for thought to reach.

Sweet to remember him who once was here,

Sadly missed by his wife, Mrs. Clifford Labadie.

Competitions, Exhibitions In 13 Sports Feature Festival Program

Sailing, Archery, Water Skiing, Softball Also Headlined

Highlighted by tournaments, competitions and exhibitions in 13 separate sports, athletic events galore dot the calendar of the four-day Hiawathaland Festival in Escanaba, beginning Thursday, which is without a peer as a promotional activity in the Upper Peninsula.

Never before has such a varied program of sports entertainment been arranged for the enjoyment of residents and throngs of tourists and visitors to this area.

Beginning with the Menominee to Escanaba yacht race in two divisions at 10 Thursday morning, a steady stream of sports events will be presented, to be climaxed by final events Saturday and Sunday at the high school stadium at 8:15 Sunday night.

Champion Water Skiers

Chuck Sligh, Jr., and his team of national champion water skiers from Holland, Mich., will give their first exhibition in Little Bay de Noc just off the municipal dock at 1 Friday afternoon, to be followed by the second seagull class sailing race, an archery exhibition by Fred Bear, nationally-known archer from Grayling, Mich., the six-mile triangular yachting race and the spectacular boxing show at the stadium.

The water skiers will repeat their show and add a few more tricks at 6:30 Friday evening, as will Fred Bear, the archer, at 7 Friday evening.

The fly and bait casting tournament will be held at the municipal dock at 10 a. m. Saturday, at which time the Bissell trophy sailing race—to Gladstone and return—will start. Another archery exhibition and an acrobatic exhibition are slated for 10:45 a. m. and 11:15 a. m., respectively.

Two-Day Net Meet

After an air show at noon, the water skiers will again take over at 12:30, and following early round matches in the morning, the Upper Peninsula Open Tennis tournament will continue during the afternoon, beginning at 1:30.

At 1:45, a log rolling exhibition will be given. The sailors will stage their 12-mile triangular race in two divisions, starting at 2, and two national champions will give a fly and bait casting exhibition at 2:15 p. m. Saturday.

Archery, acrobatics and water skiing exhibitions will again be presented Saturday afternoon and evening.

Sunday's sports program calls for a softball session at Memorial Field, including a donkey game to be staged by members of the VFW team. Tennis matches will continue Sunday morning, and finals in nine divisions will be held Sunday afternoon.

Parade Of Champions

The fifth annual 21-mile yacht race will start at 1 p. m. Sunday, at which time the field arrow race will get underway.

The horseshoe pitching tournament will begin at 2 p. m. Sunday at Ludington park, followed by the third seagull class elimination sailing race and the world's championship polo at Gladstone.

The final sports events will be the parade of champions at 8:15 Sunday night, and the Venetian night program at the municipal dock at 10:30 Sunday night, a colorful spectacle of sailing craft of all description, beautifully lighted for the occasion.

Spalding Nine Wins

VFW In 5-4 Battle

Spalding, July 1.—The Parkin's In nine of Spalding's nine, the favored Escanaba VFW softball squad, 5-4, here in an overtime game. Tied 3-all at the end of seven innings, the Spalding nine won out in two extra frames.

John Pierpont was the winning hurler, Kostitzke whiffed 17 Spalding batters, while Pierpont was fanning five. VFW was held to two hits, however.

The Sports Parade

BY JIM WARD

Already assured of plenty of class, the Upper Peninsula Open Tennis tournament to be conducted during the Hiawathaland Festival July 5 and 6 was given additional impetus yesterday with the entries of two outstanding Wisconsin tennis players from Oshkosh and Manitowish and of Ed Rocheleau and his father, Romeo, of Iron Mountain.

Bob Borchardt, of Manitowish, and Joe Bleckinger, who hails from Oshkosh, have entered both the men's singles and doubles. They recently paired together to annex the doubles championship of the Northeastern Wisconsin tournament in Fond du Lac.

Borchardt was the Wisconsin junior and men's champion in 1935 and went to the finals in the Badger state meet held this year in Watertown. He played for the University of Wisconsin in 1936, 1937 and 1938, serving as No. 1 Badger the latter two years. He was captain in 1938 and went to the Big Ten finals that year. He also won the northwestern Wisconsin championship in 1935.

NAHMA TRIMS PERKINS, 13-4

Nahma, July 1.—Nahma chalked up its fourth straight triumph in Bay de Noc competition by turning back a hard-fighting Perkins aggregation, 13-4, here Sunday afternoon.

The victory enabled Nahma to stay close on the heels of the undefeated Cooks team in the loop pennant chase. The victors banged out 15 hits. George LaBrasseur and Pete Newhouse held Perkins to five safeties.

Only 3 Hits Off Benton As Tiges Tip White Sox

Chicago, July 1 (AP)—Big Alton Benton allowed only three hits today in earning his fifth triumph of the year as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1, for a split of their two-game series.

Detroit broke a 1-1 tie with an unearned run in the eighth inning. Jimmy Outlaw walked with one out. Pat Mullin struck out but Outlaw went to third when Cass Michaels lost Eddie Mierkowitz' pop single in the sun. Mierkowitz stole second and when Skeeter Dickey threw over Michaels' head for a throwing error, Outlaw scored.

Chicago scored its run in the third. Floyd Baker drew one of three Benton walks with two out. Dave Philley lined his seventh triple of the season into right, scoring Baker.

Thereafter Benton allowed only two more hits, two singles by Luke Appling.

Detroit scored the tying run in the fourth on two hits. Roy Cullenbine opened with the first of two singles. Outlaw singled him to third and Cullenbine scored as Mullin forced Outlaw.

Lefty Eddie Lopat, suffering his seventh loss against five victories, allowed seven singles.

Dougherty, who won the Upper Peninsula novice division welterweight championship at the Golden Gloves tournament in Escanaba, is a popular favorite with boxing fans not only in his home town but throughout the Upper Peninsula.

He is a lad who loves an aggressive bout, a trait that makes him a favorite with the fans. He has been boxing in amateur competition less than two years but in that brief period of time he has skyrocketed to the forefront.

Dougherty has never lost a decision nor has he ever taken a count on the canvas.

His opponent in the July 4 show at Escanaba, Al Neff, is also an aggressive boxer and as his trainer, Ken Snyder, reports, "He can hit hard enough and can take a punch with a large following of fans throughout the peninsula."

Cliff Johnson, close friend and stablemate of Dougherty, also will be in action at the Escanaba outdoor show the afternoon of July 4. Johnson originally was paired with Barry Gillette of Oconomowoc, but Gillette is unable to make the trip and a substitution from the Oconomowoc stable is being arranged.

Cliff is a standup puncher, tough, rugged and courageous. Like Dougherty, he has a large following of fans throughout the peninsula.

Another Manistique lad, Wayne Anderson, also a Golden Glove Upper Peninsula titleholder, is ready for action on this show and a pairing is being sought for him.

Anderson was slated to meet Vern Dionne of Marinette, but it appears now that Dionne is too heavy for the Manistique boy, who is 123 pounds.

Stephenson Nine Nips Perronville

Perronville, June 30.—Six errors proved too costly for the defending champion Perronville nine in a Cloverland league clash here yesterday afternoon as the invading Stephenson diamond stars posted a well-earned 8-7 10-inning triumph.

Hitting honors went to A. Johnson of Perronville and LaCasse and Tebo of Stephenson, each of these stalwarts collecting four hits in five trips to the plate.

Martin, Stephenson hurler, who relieved Palmer in the ninth, received credit for the victory.

Detroit Silents Play 2 Tilts Here Friday, Saturday

An added sports attraction of the Hiawathaland Festival this prolonged weekend will be the appearance here of the Detroit Silents, a fast softball squad, all of whom are mutes, who will play two feature games at Memorial Field the evenings of July 4 and 5.

On Friday evening, the Silents will oppose the Delta Hardware of the Escanaba Softball association in the main game, beginning at 8:45. In the preliminary Larmays will battle Escanaba township, the game starting at 7:15.

In the feature game Saturday evening, also at 8:45, the Silents will battle the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Detroit nine will be out to avenge last year's defeat here at the hands of the Vets. In the opener Saturday evening, the Texaco Stars will oppose the Knights of Columbus. This game will start at 7:15.

Tri-County Loop Schedule Drawn

Games scheduled next weekend in the Tri-County junior baseball league are Escanaba at Munising, Gladstone at Manistique and Chatham at Nahma.

Because Escanaba, Gladstone and Chatham senior teams of the Rainbow league and Nahma of the Bay de Noc league are all scheduled to play home games this week, it was impossible to book the Tri-County junior league games for the week with the cut conflicting with other games in those cities. Both Nahma teams are scheduled for home games Sunday.

TENNIS ENTRIES ARE POURING IN

No More Men's Singles After Today; Other Divisions Open

Because of the large number of entries in the men's singles and doubles, most of which have been received within the past week, the deadline for those two divisions has been set for today but entries in all other divisions will be accepted up to July 4, the Hiawathaland Festival Open Tennis tournament committee announced yesterday.

Divisions open after today are the boys and girls singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

"It will be absolutely necessary to close the men's singles and doubles entries after July 2 in order to make it possible to make the pairings by tournament time and also to make it possible to conduct the meet in the time allotted," the committee declared.

Approximately 40 entries already have been received for the men's singles. If entries for this division were accepted through July 4, it was pointed out, the event could not be run off Saturday and Sunday, as planned.

In order to facilitate play in this class within the allotted time, some matches will be run off Friday, July 4. These will be first round matches involving local players, inasmuch as out-of-town contestants will not be here and ready to compete until the morning of July 5.

The Hiawathaland open horseshoe tournament will be held Sunday afternoon, July 6, at Ludington Park, beginning at 2. The junior division will include boys up to 16 years of age, inclusive. Participants who are 17 years of age or older will compete in the senior division. Singles and doubles matches will be run off for both divisions.

Cash prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place winners in the senior group. In the junior division cash prizes will be given to first and second place winners. First prize for men's singles will be $12.50, second prize will be $5 and third prize will be $2.50. In the men's doubles competition, $5 will be given to each of the two first place winners, $2.50 will go to each of the two second place winners, and $1.50 will be awarded to each of the third place winners.

First prize for the junior singles will be $2.50 with $1.50 going to the second place winner. In the junior doubles $2 will go to each of the first place winners and $1 will be given to each of the second place winners. Only winners and runners-up will receive prizes in the junior competition.

A general meeting of all horseshoe pitchers was held last night at Royce Park. Those unable to attend the meeting may enter at the city youth center, 14th street, or at any of the following playgrounds: Ludington Park, Royce Park and Webster Playground.

Marquette, July 1.—Erasing a 3-2 deficit with a two-run rally in the first of the eighth, the Marquette branch prison nine defeated Hermansville, 4-3, here, although the "home" team was out of 9 to 5, by the visitors.

Indian Dancers To Be Featured In Spectacle

On July 3 to 6 the Hiawathaland Saga will present Reginald and Gladys Laubin in a program of Indian lore and dances. The Laubins are white but have spent a great deal of time on various reservations of the Western Indians studying their customs and dances. They are adopted members of the Hunkpapa Sioux tribe of South Dakota and at present are making their home with the Crow Indians of Montana.

Reginald and Gladys Laubin are well known throughout the country for their beautiful and picturesque renditions of Indian ceremonial dances. They use native Indian musical instruments and songs as accompaniment and their many costumes are breath-taking examples of the finest old Indian art.

The Laubins have appeared for leading institutions in the United States and their programs have been so well received that they have been invited to make return appearances in many places. They have made eight appearances at the Art Institute of Chicago and are to give their fifth and sixth performances at the American Museum of Natural History in New York this season. Dudley Crafts Watson, of the Art Institute of Chicago, declares, "The Laubins have the finest Indian material and the most beautiful Indian costumes in America." The programs have had such an appeal for all ages that the Laubins have been asked on many occasions to give a separate program for children, following their recital for adults.

On their lecture and concert tours the Laubins have often performed for audiences on various Indian reservations from Utah to New York State. They have also appeared for several Indian schools and gave the benefit performance for the Indian Council Fire of Chicago last year. Such performances had always been given by Indians in the past.

Spokesmen for the Indian audiences say the Laubins are doing much to bring about a better understanding between the races. Kills Pretty Enemy, an old Sioux warrior and medicine man, said, "It is a good thing you are doing, keeping alive these old ways for coming generations, both red and white."

Old Buffalo Days, the program Reginald and Gladys Laubin will present on this occasion, features the lore, music and dances of our Plains Indians before the disappearance of the buffalo. It comes with the approval and recommendation of the United States Office of Indian Affairs and offers invaluable opportunities for an understanding and appreciation of the artistry of these colorful first Americans, who have left us a great and truly American heritage.
